

~~Not waiting to leave my place at the Banquet of the Senses~~ (Bites)

lonely, picking up the phone,
I could hear the minister bells,
You called me by mistake,
After all our false-thee-wells.
They were ringing out the old Ringing in somebody new Warning out my heart Breathin' to hold you (Breastin' to...) All in a pause, while I fumbled for cause
To keep you there holding the line Holding us there, holding on Scared to breathe lest I fall behind (Into the mists of Time)

RECORD

Stated 2/1/08
when we hadn't
yet got together
E... then
C G C F G E
then back ups
DADGAD (practical-kind of prefer c)

drop Mercy, Time will not allow It ravages unplanned
I ~~fall~~ like a stone
Heavy as I leave your hand
As I fall from grace
I catch a drop of your love
On the taste of you Worth all the waiting (danger)
They said fatal slip or secret blip An unlikely pain truth be told May I want you still You were my rock'n' roll (A springtime for this old soul)

based on ...
* From 'Disgrace'
by J.M. Coetzee
© 1999

Formal Plural

* Deep inside of me
The smell of you is stored
The smell of a mate
I wonder do you remember mine
If our paths crossed again
Would there be a flash of feelin'
A sign / our course not yet run?
Well here's to the dreamin'!

Now you a stranger

* decrivoo l'amour
en conditionnel

This jack so nearly becomin'
a king
This jack so nearly made it to a king

Tommy Devore Bob with finger

all I have are ~~the letters~~ <sup>decrivant</sup> <sup>proclaiming</sup> love unfettered

Now [time changes everything] [DCBCE] I fall hard into the blues & I sing
After we wished each other well
I fall hard into the blues & I sing (This jack so nearly made it to a king)
for a while felt like [D B G F E]

Ver disown the letters
decrivé
love unfettered
after we wished
the well
decrivant
l'amour
inconditionnel

I fall hard into the blues &
I sing
This jack so nearly turned into a king became Nov 7th 2008

mm