

Sunflowers
(Richard Adams & Dave Greaves)

I sat on the door step and gazed at your sunflowers
On the night you shaved your head
Tall strong sap rising the flowers leaned towards me
Their jaws defiant to the sky

The sunflower seeds still only potential
Petals like flags still furled
The seed that passed between us
Still sheltered from the world

I felt your strength tonight
With every breath you took
You are giant sunflower beauty
You're everywhere I look
To be so bold as to thrust out of the earth
Your sunflower seed and my re-birth

The nights of my remembrance will always draw me here
And you'll grow sunflowers every year
Together we will watch our seeds grow tall as we grow weak
The memory of tonight will bring a tear

Tonight I love you like the open sky
Tonight you touch me with your naked head
And the power that's inside you
And your sunflower bed
